

Iñaki Acasuso Perez (Hedera Helix Ingenieria y Biotecnologia S.L.). Engineer with over 20 years of industrial experience in engineering, automatization, solar energy applied and management of energy resources for the agriculture and industrial sector. He is a Managing director and associate of Hedera Helix Ingenieria y Biotecnologia S.L. His fields of experience are passive/active renewable based systems such as ground-source heat pumps, solar absorption, heat/cold storage and photovoltaic systems as well latest technology in the field of control and monitoring of industrial processes. Principal manager of international and national industrial and research projects, bringing the unique mix of engineering and research skills, theory and practical application of the renewable energy engineering.